Coronne—First Prize “Best White Miniature”

Bolsa

DAHLIA GARDEN

197 OAKDALE AVENUE, MILL VALLEY, CALIFORNIA

1933

WE are offering an excellent variety of Pompons, Miniatures and English Singles. You will find a good selection of colors to choose from.

There are many varieties not listed in our catalog for the reason that we grow only those we have proved to be good form, attractive colors, prolific bloomers, good for cut flowers and of the newer varieties.

Among the new types we have not found any to supplant the little pompons. They are growing in favor more and more each season with both amateurs and professionals. They appreciate its fine features—perfection of form and splendid keeping qualities. For the benefit of those who would like to exhibit in competition the pompon must measure not more than two inches in diameter and be ball-shape in form.

The miniatures are comparatively new to the American grower. They are a class between pompons and the larger varieties and are not confined to one form like the pompons. They are exceedingly graceful and pretty and please many to whom the small varieties appeal.

We displayed our dahlias on a thirty-foot table at the 1932 Show of the Dahlia Society of California, winning first prize in all the classes we entered.

We entered two varieties of white miniature dahlias in competition in a special white exhibit representing a beautiful bridal altar of silver. The first was a silver basket containing 100 blooms of the miniature Coronne which resembles a gardenia and brought us the first prize. The picture of this beautiful basket appears on the cover of our catalog. The second entry was a glass vase of the miniature cactus Samaritan which also brought us a first prize. These two varieties were outstanding among the many white dahlias in this beautiful display.

We truly hope we can be of service to you in planning your 1933 garden and we are sure you will enjoy growing any or all of the varieties you find listed in this catalog.

Sincerely,

"THE HAAKES"

(Mr. and Mrs. H. C.)

DAHLIA SEED

A large percentage of seed germinate, produce healthy plants and all bloom the first year. Very few of them show any relation to the parent stock; this makes seed growing most interesting for you scarcely find two alike in either form or color.

We hear splendid reports from our customers, one of whom received a Certificate of Merit this season from Storrs trial gardens in Connecticut, for a beautiful pompon.

Our dahlia seed is of the best quality that can be had, it is sun-cured and carefully inspected before shipping. We sell to our customers just the same grade of seed that we use for our own planting.

100 mixed Pompon seed	$1.00
Miniature or English Singles seed per pkt25
